MONTREAL HEBREW FREE LOAN ASSOCIATION

The Twelfth Annual Meeting of the Hebrew Free Loan Association of Montreal, was held on Sunday afternoon, under the chairmanship of Mr. N. S. Fineberg, president.

An imposing bronze tablet, the gift of the board of directors and friends, was unveiled in memory of the late Zigmond Fineberg, the founder and organizer of this Association, and president from its inception in 1911 to his death in November, 1917. A large number of relatives and friends, including the widow, were present. The tablet was draped with a Union Jack and the Jewish national flags, and was unveiled by the youngest grandson of the deceased, his namesake Master Zigmond Fineberg, son of Mr. Joseph Fineberg. Mr. J. S. Leo, 1st vice-president of the Association, who presided at this unveiling, made a brief address dwelling on the ideals and and ambitions of the late Zigmond Fineberg to diminish panperism in the city by inculcating the idea of helping people to help themselves by means of a loan of money, free of all interest or any other charges whatsoever, so that a person may still, in the hour of adversity, retain his self-respect and independence. Messrs. M. Albert, Louis Vineberg, J. B. Miller, A. Rudolph, M. Lavut and others also spoke.

The reports of the board of directors and treasurer again showed an unprecedented demand for loans during last year. 1,309 loans were issued, amounting to $91,203.00, as compared with 1,164 loans for $87,028.00 for the preceding year, bringing the total number of loans granted since the foundation of this Association to $10,886.00, amounting to $584,460.43.

Donations received during the past year, together with the surplus of annual fees, brought the total capital fund of this Association to $26,718.42.

As the annual report was going to press, this Association received, through the kind offices of its president, Mr. N. S. Fineberg, a donation of $1,000.00 from Mr. A. Raginsky of this city, to perpetuate the memory of his late beloved wife, Rena Raginsky, to form "The Rena Raginsky Fund." Also the sum of $300.00 through Mr. M. Lavut, from Mr. Morris Robinson, of this city, to perpetuate the memory of his late beloved wife, Fanny Robinson.

Messrs. N. S. Fineberg, J. S. Leo, M. Albert, Joseph Fineberg, J. B. Miller, Edward Solomon, M. Lavut, H. Wolofsky, Louis Vineberg, S. Guttman and others addressed the meeting.

Recommendations were made that the board find some ways and means to increase the capital of this Association, so as to enable it to satisfy fully all demands for loans. An important change in the by-laws of the Association was unanimously adopted at the meeting by amending article III., section 2 of by-laws, increasing the maximum amount of a loan to $300.00.

The election of officers and directors was unanimous and resulted as follows: Mr. N. S. Fineberg, M.A., B.C.L., re-elected president; Mr. J. S. Leo, re-elected 1st vice-president; Mr. Abraham Rudolph, re-elected 2nd vice-president; Mr. Moses Albert, re-elected treasurer; and Mr. Peter Bercovitch, K.C., M.P.P., re-elected hon. secretary. Messrs. M. Lavut, Jacob A. Jacobs, Isaac Gold, S. Richler, A. Raginsky and Edward Solomon were elected directors for two years, who together with Messrs. Ph. Cohen, M. Feldman, Joseph Fineberg, B. Glickman, N. H. Golinsky, and J. B. Miller, will form the board of directors for the ensuing year.

The Independent Order Sons of Israel Lends a Helping Hand to the Local Y.M.H.A. Campaign and to Montefiore Orphans' Home

The Order "Sons of Israel," has been among the first of local organizations to answer the call made by the "Y" boys for financial assistance. A handsome donation is being remitted to the secretary of the Y.M.H.A. campaign.

The president of the Order, in calling for the co-operation of the brothers of the lodge, urged emphatically that not only should the Order, but all the brethern individually offer practical assistance. In part, the president said: "We should provide a worthy home for our Y.M.H.A. We must assist in this great necessary work; we should all help to create ideal surroundings for our boys, even if it be only to show our gratitude to the founders of the Young Men's Hebrew Association. We Sons of Israel in particular, should, as a body, and as individuals do our utmost in this respect."

"The orphans too," the president added, "are deserving of thought and assistance. We, who may escape the threats and effects of the summer heat by recreation at beach or lake in summer resorts, must not, however, forget the unfortunate children who cannot afford themselves the same privileges and pleasures that are ours."

The lodge responded generously by voting unanimously several outings and picnics for the Monetfiore Orphans' Home. Mr. Max Seigler, vice-president of the Order, has the matter in hand.

Young Judaea Annual Banquet

The second annual banquet of Montreal Young Judaea, which took place at the Mount Royal Hotel on the evening of June 20, was a most enjoyable affair. Among the guests of honor were Mr. Marcus Sperber, K.C., Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fitch, Mrs. E. G. Bernstein, Miss Elizabeth Notkin, Miss L. Lena Ashkaloney, Mr. Lazarus Phillips, Dr. H. Abramovitz and Mr. and Mrs. S. Kahn. Mr. Philip Joseph, the president of Young Judaea, who presided, made a an able toastmaster. Mr. Sperber gave an interesting account of his trip in Palestine, mentioning specially the splendid constructive work that is being carried on there by Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Joseph. Miss Frances Joseph, Miss Lillian Kert, Mr. Leslie Herman, all of whom were former Young Judaeans in telling of the work of his organization, Mr. Joseph stressed the fact that the Young Judaeans of to-day are the Zionists of to-morrow, and for that reason it would be better for both parties if their executives could work together smoothly. Mr. Louis Fitch, Mrs. Louis Fitch, Mrs. Alta Kahn, and Mr. Laz Philips were among the guests who were called upon to speak. Mr. Moe Levitt who toasted the Zionist organization did so in as fine a speech as we have ever heard. Mr. Harold Freeman toasted the guests in a short talk that was as delightfully humorous as it was brief. Mr. Mendelovitch proposed the toast to the homeland and Mr. Henry Silverstone that to the ladies which was responded to by Miss Edith Handler of

Jewish Library Opens Campaign

"New members and more books" is the slogan adopted by the canvassers of the Jewish People's Library who opened a two weeks' campaign. At a meeting held in Prince Arthur Hall, on Thursday evening, at which N. W. Jacobs was the lecturer, volunteers for the campaign were enrolled with the object of securing at least 1,000 new members.

Zionist Notes

Mr. H. E. Wilder of Winnipeg, publisher of the only Jewish paper in Western Canada, spent a few days of last week in Montreal. Mr. Wilder, who is a member of the National Council, and the chairman of the western division paid the Montreal Zionist Bureau an unofficial visit during his stay. Zionist officials were fortunate too, in that Dr. Schmarya Levine who was in Montreal on business of a private nature was able to spend some time at headquarters. Another visit of interest was that of Mr. Bernard Stone, secretary to Dr. Chaim Weitzman, and propagandist and publicity man for the Keren Hayesod, who was here to make final arrangements as regards the Keren Hayesod campaign.

Notices have been sent out by the Zionist Bureau to members of the National Executive of the Zionist organization, calling a meeting for Tuesday, July 10, at Montreal headquarters.

"Herzl Day," which falls on the 20th day of Tammuz, corresponding to the 4th day of July, will be observed on the Sunday following this date. Plans are already well under way for a special memorial collection, which will take the form of a campaign to plant trees that will be known as the Herzl Forest. This campaign will be launched on July 4, and will continue until Tishu-B'ov.

During the year 1921, the National Fund collected only $2,800, whereas from June 1, 1922, to June, 1923, the sum of $13,400 was collected. Of this amount, the eastern division contributed $6,665.45, the western division $3,731.72, and the central division $2,841.74. Of the large cities, Montreal came first with $5,480.64, Toronto second with $1,815.72 and Winnipeg third with $1,127.87.

The Queen Esther Chapter of Hadassah held its closing meeting of the season on Wednesday last in the form of a social to which were invited the husbands and friends of the members. Marcus Sperber addressed the assemblage.

Needed — an Understanding of Jewish Life in America

By DR. CYRUS ADLER

After analysing the divergence between the various Jewish organizations in America, Dr. Cyrus Adler in this, the final instalment of his Dr. Solomon T. H. Hurwitz lecture approaches the problem of Jewish education in this country. His chief grievance is that the number of youth which is reached by the synagogues and schools is deplorably small. In this connection he announces that a number of leaders in educational work in different parts of the country and of different schools of thought are now engaged in an effort to raise the standard of teachers and pupils and to limit duplication of effort. Finding the same divergency and duplication in the Jewish philanthropic effort, Dr. Adler makes a plea for greater concentration in that field. This lecture is made available through the Jewish Telegraphic Agency by arrangement with the Jewish Forum—Editor.

(Copyright, 1923, Jewish Correspondence Bureau)

Education is one of the most talked about and one of the most neglected subjects in the Jewish community. I think it may be soberly stated that in the most favored communities, not more than thirty-three and one-third per cent. of the Jewish children of school age receive any kind of regular religious instruction and that in the average community this percentage is as low as twenty-five per cent. Think of it. Somewhere between sixty-six and two-thirds and seventy-five per cent. of Jewish children are growing up without any religious instruction of any kind as far as our statisticians have been able to gather information. If any religious body were intentionally heading for disaster, they could not adopt more effective means than by permitting this state of affairs to continue.

We have debates as to whether the school should be attahed to the synagogue or should be independent; whether it should be a free school or paid for by the children's parents; whether it should meet once or twice, or three, five and six times a week; debates as to the methods of instruction, as to the language of instruction; whether it should be Hebrew and English, or Hebrew and Hebrew, or whether it should be Yiddish and Hebrew, or whether it should be Yiddish exclusively.

We lack text books in all directions, and yet the publishers and the societies that are engaged in issuing text books are each one doing it independently of the other. Has not the time arrived for an intelligent inventory of our educational assets and liabilities on a nation-wide scale?

Some statistician recently informed us that there were about 14,000 Jewish young men and young women who were attending the universities and colleges in the United States. The number is probably higher at the present time. Other things being equal, these 14,000 young men and women will in their day and generation, or ought in their day and generation, become leaders in their various communities. A very large proportion of them are removed from the influence of their homes and the synagogues and schools in which they were brought up and many of them go to colleges and universities without a Jewish community and without any Jewish influences.

One would imagine that such a matter would long ago have challenged the attention of the various agencies which are interested in the Jewish education of the promising youth. As a matter of fact, it has challenged their attention and several organizations have been created, for the purpose of dealing with it, and other organizations representing the various aspects of Jewish life in America have likewise undertaken to deal with it, or have said that they wished to deal with it. As far as I have been able to observe, their efforts have never been co-ordinated in any way and they have fallen so far short of the mark that I do not believe that they reach even thirty per cent. of the Jewish student body in our universities. We have had very fine reports, but they have always had to do with a small percentage.

Recently I heard the statement made that, given the choice of training five hundred Jewish young men well or five thousand not so well—extensive and intensive, words which I do not like very much, were the words used—that it was preferable to train the five hundred and leave the five thousand go, on the theory that Israel would always be saved by a remnant.

I think that this is a dreadful state of mind and only points the way to a notion that has cropped up in some of our synagogues even, that if we, the small number of saints, can save our own souls, we are willing that the large remainder shall go to perdition. Surely that is a mistaken attitude. "Would that all the Lord's people were prophets" was the aspiration of Moses, and I prefer his authority to that of the most modern pedagogues, even if he has several degrees behind his name.

I could go on and recite to you at length the shortcomings and inadequacy of our educational system, but I can at least bring you a ray of hope in the announcement that during the past few weeks a number of leaders in educational work in different parts of the country and of different schools of thought sat together amicably for a whole day in a room and considered the establishment of a national council of Jewish education which would make propaganda for extension of educational facilities so as to reach a larger number, to stimulate existing national institutions, to conduct researches and surveys, to aid in the raising of the standard of teachers and pupils, and to eliminate duplication of effort. I am sure you will agree with me that so far as this has gone along, at least, it is a most desirable understanding, and that it would be well if an effective instrument for carrying out this understanding could be created.

Charity Work

There is no department of Jewish activity in which so nearly a complete understanding has been reached and which is so effectively pursued as our charitable work. While there have been divisions on the ground of Orthodoxy or Reform, we witness in all of our large cities important unions under the name of Federations of Jewish Charities. To co-ordinate these local organizations, there have been created the National Council of Jewish Charities and the National Council of Jewish Social Workers. It is a great testimony to both the heart and the mind of the Jewish people that they have been able to create such effective machinery for this noble work and yet here too there is not full concord nor a complete understanding and particularly with regard to two items.

Many, though by no means all, of the important Jewish institutions in our large cities were founded at least fifty or seventy-five years ago. They have, to a considerable extent, come under the management of the Reform members of the Jewish community, who have aided them, not only with great means, but with patience and devoted service, and the idea seems gradually to have lodged in the minds of the really estimable gentlemen who are managing these institutions, that the institutions are theirs and are to be carried on according to their notions.

We witness, therefore, great hospitals in which the Jewish dietary laws are not only not observed but flouted, orphan asylumns in which the Sabbath is not observed and other like offenses against Jewish tradition and against what I might even call good taste.

Karl Marx and His Jewish Ancestry

"Yichus"—or pride of ancestry—is a tradition carefully guarded and highly cherished among Jews. In the old world it frequently serves the poor in place of a dowry. Those not yet far removed from European Jewish tradition will remember with what pride people traced the long line of rabbis in their family tree. It was therefore quite natural for families to keep strict record of their genealogies. This was no easy task when one recalls how often families were separated on account of pogroms and frequent expulsions.

It was undoubtedly this pride in heredity which the Jew cherished that prompted the Jewish historian, Dr. Wackstein of Vienna, to trace the genealogy of Karl Marx, the founder and theoretician of modern scientific Socialism.

According to Dr. Wackstein's researches, the great scholar and rabbi Judah Ben Eliezer, Halevi Mintz, who was born in Mayence, Germany, in 1408, was one of Karl Marx's great-great-grandparents. Rabbi Mintz was expelled from Germany and emigrated to Padua in Italy, which was a famous seat of learning in the middle ages. Here he became a professor at the university. Another one of Karl Marx's ancestors was the head of the Jewish Academy in Padua. It seems further that Karl Marx was descended from a long line of rabbis and scholars covering a period of several hundred years, who lived in Holland, Germany and Poland.

It has always been known that Karl Marx was of Jewish descent. Dr. Wackstein's studies merely prove what is so frequently the case among outstanding personalities of Jewish descent, namely, that they come from families in which scholarship is a matter of tradition.

Dr. Wackstein is not content, however, to let his researches into the genealogy of Karl Marx stand without comment. Belonging as he seems to the school of thought founded by Sir Francis Galton, Dr. Wackstein infers that Karl Marx's genius as an economist, philosopher and dialectician, is the direct result of his rabbinic heredity.

This view of heredity is no longer held by modern students. To be sure, very little is as yet known about this tremendous subject, yet it is the accepted belief to-day, that though genetic physical characteristics are transmissable from parents to their off-spring that the same thing is not the case with mental characteristics, which come as a result of education and special training. The modern students of heredity are more prone to believe that environment plays the predominant rule in the development of the child.

From this point of view, the judgment of Dr. Wackstein, which attributes Karl Marx's genius as a philosopher and economist to a long line of ancestral rabbis, is open to serious question. One thing, however, is certain, and that is, that Karl Marx's Jewish descent is responsible for having endowed him with a type of mind and temperament, which was decidedly different from that which he might have had if he came from a different racial stock.

It is now universally admitted that the Jewish mind is skewed differently from that of other racial minds. One of the manifestations of the uniqueness of the Jewish mind is its passion for righteousness ands ocial justice. Dialecticism and keen powers of analysis are more original with the Greek type of mind than they are with the Hebraic. Thus whilst Plato, Socrates and Aristotle were spinning out fine philosophical discourses in Greece, the prophets in Israel and Judah were thundering forth in the name of Jehovah, their demands for a world in which love, justice and peace should reign. Ethics, not philosophy, was the long suit of the Jew.

The Hebrew prophets were followed by a long line of great Jewish idealists and teachers of social justice and righteousness, of whom Karl Marx is the outstanding figure of modern times. A golden thread of idealism stretches from the Hebrew prophets through to modern times.

The Jewish mind, in its passion for social justice, is in a sense a naive mind. It takes life seriously and is impatient of social wrong and exploitation in any form. It is not satisfied to be merely analytical. It is impatient of social sin and becomes immediately harnessed with a passion and directed by an irrepressible will to right the wrong and correct the evil, to regenerate and rebuild. The Jewish mind is no tolerator of sham and insincerity. It tears away the mask and uncovers the sore nakedness of social wrongdoing. It is because the Jewish mind is thus peculiarly skewed with a prophetic passion for social regeneration that the Jew has been the eternal protestant in the world. This has been the indestructible mission of the Jew. It is for this reason, that though crucified for two thousand years, he has always risen with a torch in his hand, outstretched, ready to serve mankind as a light in a dark and stricken world.

It is therefore, no accident of history or mere coincidence that in our own day, the modern sons and daughters of that people from whose loins sprang Karl Marx, the father of modern Socialism, and Jean Bloch, the father of modern pacifism, and a host of other great spirits of universalism, should stand in the front ranks of those movements which seek to promote and establish social justice, democracy and peace. It matters not whether we are one hundred per cent. believers in these movements for universalism or not; the time has come to recognize, and be proud of, the role which the Jew plays in the promotion of social reform movements.

It is a mistake to believe as so many do, that the Jew is radical and liberal because of the persecutions that he has endured. Rather is it true to state that the Jew has endured persecution because of the ideals that were and are still his.

We are living in an age that has lost its soul in the intense process of mechanization and industrialization. The iron of rust has entered the heart of the world and deadened it. In such a world the Jew again proclaims the ideals of the Hebrew prophets which alone can regenerate it.

Karl Marx was mistaken in some of his analyses, and wrong in a good deal of his scheme for remaking society. Nevertheless we must admit that much which was regarded as radical Socialism as recently as twenty-five years ago, is now firmly recognized by even many conservatives. It must never be forgotten that Socialism preached an eight-hour working day, woman suffrage, minimum wages, special conditions of labor for women; it was opposed to child labor and advocated universal peace and no war. It stood for unemployment insurance, widows' pensions, old age insurance, health insurance and a host of other ideals, many of which have already become law and are now regarded as respectable and beneficial.

In Karl Marx and his Jewish followers we recognise idealists with a passion for remaking the world according to the ideals of the Hebrew prophets. They may ofttimes be over-zealous and their zeal may mislead them into adopting tactics and schemes which are impractical, but they remain, nevertheless, sincere idealists who are on a social mission. They are not wild-eyed, selfish exploiters, seeking power, but rather missionaries, whose hope is to make this world a better and happier place to live in.

We rise to suggest that the Federation of Jewish Charities be thrown on the communal scrap heap for the simple reason that the Jewish community at large does not care whether it lives or dies and would be much more at ease without it. Of course we must except those ever-present, annoying poor, huddled in hovels fit for pigs, but they constitute the hapless, helpless, unimportant minority, and the rest of us, thank God, are more than they. They do care. Then there are the few good men and true who realize that the money they have is in trust, not worth much unless shared willingly on every occasion where common decency and human obligation point the necessity They care.

But we repeat that the Jews of Toronto generally, prosperous and sleek though we be, prate of how impulsively "Jews take care of their poor" though we may, would just as soon drop this burdensome role of believer in organized, business-like charity as maintain it. It takes no second sight to arrive at the natural conclusion (considering the frequent reports of financial disability that come from the Federation and the shameless way it begs and begs) that the channels between our hearts and pocketbooks are either closed or too narrow to permit of much navigation.

There is some right on our side. Could anything be more provoking than the way the Federation bobs up at the very moment we are having a good time or planning one? Just let's decide to go off to a cool place for the summer and here comes a reminder that there are thousands of children wilting on the pavements of Toronto for the want of a cool breath of air. We sit back in satisfaction at the way our baby withstands the heat aided by shady verandahs, electric fans, hovering relatives, maids, even anxious neighbours who love it, and from a clear sky the Federation shouts that, unless we give some money, an insignificant woman, deserted by her husband and with a baby we never saw, can't go to the country for a rest! We send our sons to a camp in the woods and a busy-body asks us on the spot how about the little Jewish newsies sweating on the curbstones, funless all summer unless we say the magic word.

Another thing—this irritating, ubiquitous Mr. Kaufman. Whenever he can put in a word for boys who are going astray for the want of good home surroundings, men who are stumbling to the ground in the fight for a living, or families laboring under the dark curse of poverty, we can't get him off the subject. Get rid of him and it would be to suffer under the prodding of some other member of his professional family. The only way out is to break up the Federation that harbors him and go back to the habits of pre-organized days.

Yes, that's it—back to "handkerchief" giving when philanthropy meant the presentation of a banana each to poor children who had to wait until Chanukah to get it, or a hasty collection for some poor devil out of luck. Back to the old slipshod plan of a dozen organizations busy over one bad condition and a dozen bad conditions growing worse from neglect; when untrained women, well-meaning enough, did what they chose to call "investigating" and spent a lot of energy reporting on them with the result that the rest of us determined to send a chicken to that hungry family one of these days or to have those wandering girls in for an uplifting meal some evening when we left our rouge off and no company was coming in. Those comfortable days when we spent twenty-five dollars in one season for a hat and intended to give that much during a whole year to charity if we ever got to it—quite a contrast to the orderly reign of a Federation when, though we know what our neighbor gives, there's the disadvantage of our neighbor knowing what we pledged—and whether we gave it or not!

The Federation is guilty on at least two counts. One is the ungainly way in which it lumbers along, most cylinders missing, continually wanting to be pulled out of the quicksand of deficit. The other is its cruelty in standing for the communal promise of help from the well-to-do to the needy and being in reality a mere, moneyless, bit of camouflage behind which we Jews wish to take our place among the enlightened communities of this continent. The only disturbing thing about actually convicting the Federation of the guilt we charge is that in doing it we so completely brand ourselves.

CURZON ATTACKS, ORMSBY-GORE DEFENDS, PALESTINE POLICY

London (J.T.A.)—Questions implying a challenge of the policy pursued by the British Government in Palestine were put by Lord Curzon, Foreign Secretary, in the House of Commons to-day. Replies to the questions conveying conviction in the success of the policy were furnished by Major Ormsby-Gore, in charge of the Mid-East Section of the Colonial Office.

Replying to Lord Curzon's question regarding the new Advisory Council, Ormsby-Gore stated the Council, which is temporarily replacing the proposed Legislative Council, consists of 8 Mohammedans, 2 Christians and 2 Jews. Its function is purely advisory and not administrative, he said. Palestine will continue to be administered by the High Commissioner, acting under the instruction of the British Government. He added that an opportunity to consider the government's policy would be given when the Foreign Office vote is taken.

Lord Curzon asked whether the result of the elections has not shown the "complete failure" of the Palestine policy, to which Ormsby-Gore replied: "I do not agree. As a matter of fact, Palestine has been more peaceful and has been going ahead much better in the last few months than at any previous time."

AMERICANS IN PALESTINE MAY BE TRIED IN BRITISH COURTS

Jerusalem (J.T.A.)—American, European and Japanese residents, while amenable to the Palestine courts, are entitled to the right of trial before a British magistrate, if they prefer.

An official statement to this effect has been made here in order to remove misunderstandings which have arisen in regard to the legal status of Americans and British subjects in Palestine.

The provisions of Article 8 of the Mandate, it is stated, definitely abrogate "the immunities and privileges of foreigners, including the benefits of consular jurisdiction and protection, as formerly enjoyed by capitulation or usage in the Ottoman Empire."

Under the Palestine Order of Council, 1922, however, "any person who is a national subject of a European or American state, may claim to be tried by a British magistrate for any offence, except those of a very light nature."

The label carries a parcel across the continent or around the world, telling each handler from whence to where. The axe is useful too, but only to the immediate user. 17th Annual Closing Exercises

OF THE ZIONIST HEBREW FREE SCHOOL

The 17th annual closing exercises of the Zionist Hebrew Free School were held on Sunday, June 24, at the Allen's Downtown Theatre. Mr. S. Harris was in the chair. The choir directed by Cantor Dorskind, gave several Hebrew songs. Young Hilda Witkin gave several interpretative recitations in English. Recitations were given in Hebrew and Yiddish by Misses Rose Crakower, Sarah Smith, Anna Mintz and Opsbaum.

A striking feature of the program was a Hebrew play, "The Awakening," written by one of the teachers of the School, Mr. S. Efrein. The play was acted by pupils of the school under the guidance of Miss Leah Hyman and Mr. and Mr. Efrein. The role of Sasha was played by Miss Sophie Reback, that of Moshele, the 'aleph-beth' pupil, by Jake Segal, and Misses Fanny Stitsky and Jenny Feld completed the cast.

Rabbi Siegel spoke about the chaotic state of Jewish education in Toronto. He said that the first great step towards betterment has already been taken in the building of the new Talmud Torah and social center on Brunswick Avenue. When that structure is complete and ready for occupation it will serve as the centre of the educational work of the entire community and will be in a position to render capital service in the co-ordination of the various educational efforts now being made in the community. It will also be a great power and force in the standardization of the curriculum of instruction.

The children surprised Mr. S. Harris with a silver kiddish goblet presented by Miss Jenny Feld, a pupil.

Prizes for proficiency in Hebrew were given to all classes. Four prizes were given in each class, first prizes, consisting of medals going to: Miss Sarah Smith of Mr. Goldberg's class, Miss Tobie Pike of Miss Madorsky's class, Miss Tobie Levinstein of Miss Hyman's class, Miss Lily Blugrind of Mr. Efrein's class, Miss Sarah Levinstein of Miss A. Rogul's class, Miss Sarah Zeldman, of Miss M. Rogul's class and Miss Lily Saltman of Miss M. Litner's class. The method of teaching Hebrew in the school is the modern grammatical method. In addition to Hebrew the children receive instruction in Zionistic ideals, Jewish history and customs, and are taught the significance of each Jewish holiday.

Particular credit is due to Mr. S. Harris, for his energy made the school what it is. Mention must be made, too, of Mrs. Wolfson, Mrs. Rosenwald, Mrs. Abramowitz and Mr. Shapiro, whose co-operation made it possible for Mr. Harris to carry out some of his more ambitious projects in connection with the school. Some of those who contributed to the school financially are: Mr. E. Pullan, $25; Mr. S. Kronick, $50; Mr. A. Lavine, $10; Zion Benevolent, $50; Hadassah Council, $50; Mr. Rader, $10; Mr. Rosen, $5; Mr. Ramm, $5. Additional contributors will be published next week.

The school will hold its annual picnic at High Park on Tuesday, July 3. Children will be taken at 10 o'clock from the Zionist Institute by private cars to the park.

BALFOUR

In an exhibition game played at Riverdale Park, the Balfours defeated the Simpson Avenue team by the score of 10-2. They are now leading the Central Judaean League, having won four and lost none.

The club has received its tennis permits and members may use the Bathurst Street courts at Alexandra Park on Mondays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays after six p.m.

Any who intend going to the club's fourth annual boat trip to Niagara Falls should get in touch with Mr. English who will have charge of the affair. Refreshments will be served on the boat.

During summer the club will meet every fortnight, commencing July 5th.

Warsaw (J.T.A.)—Isaac Pagura and Lasaz Lass, two Jewish passengers in an omnibus proceeding from Sokolow to Wegrow, were shot dead by bullets alleged to have been fired by a Polish captain and his four soldiers.

The omnibus contained only Jewish passengers and the escape of the rest of them from the salvo which was fired four times is considered remarkable.

No grounds are known for the shooting. A police record of the tragedy has been made but the soldiers, although identified, are still at large.

Pagura leaves a wife and six children. The Jews of Wegrow are calling a meeting to-day to protest the murder of the two men.

It comprises gymnasium, swimming tank, boiler room, etc. The building committee at its last meeting with the subscribers decided to continue its work in accordance with the original plans and it is hoped that by the end of August the first two floors will be up. The building can be completed by the end of September if the work is not delayed or interrupted.

FUNDS MEETS SUCCESS

The Y.M.H.A. campaign launched a week ago for the purpose of raising $25,000.00 to expand the work and activities of this institution, is meeting with marked success and is very encouraging to the teams as well as to the directors in charge. The management hopes to pay up the deficit and to carry on the next year's work with greater success then ever, unhampered by any financial difficulties.

The Y.M.H.A. activities are continuing successfully, in spite of the warm weather, and in a few days the "Y" directorate will meet to outline the activities and lay plans for the immediate future.

The greatest need at the present time is a permanent home with the best gymnasium equipment and a swimming tank. At the close of the campaign a committee will be appointed to find a site or building suitable.

PEACE BETWEEN ARABS AND JEWS OF PETACH TIKVAH

Jerusalem, (J.T.A.).—Peace between the Jewish colony of Pectach Tikvah and the neighboring Arab villages was concluded here yesterday amidst brilliant oriental exercises, including peace offerings from both sides and the slaughtering on the part of Arabs of sacrificial lambs.

The covenant marks the end of ill-feeling culminating in the Arab raid on the Jewish village in June, 1921, when the colony was sacked and many of its inhabitants killed in the defence. The formal inauguration of the peace was exacted by Sir Herbert Samuel as the price for the release of Sheik Abu Kishk who was serving a fifteen-year sentence following his conviction as leader of the Arab hosts which raided the village.

Representatives of the Palestine Government, of the Zionist and other Jewish organizations took part in the ceremony held outside of Petach Tikvah.

CHARGE RABBI'S APOSTATE SON HELPS STINNES FINANCE HAKENKREUZLER

Vienna (J.T.A.).—Deputy Dannenberg, Socialist, speaking in Parliament on the ramifications and sources of financial power of the Hakenkreuzler, declared that Castiglioni, an apostate son of a rabbi, was participating with Hugo Stinnes, the German magnate, in financing the anti-Semitic movement.

The Austrian Hakenkreuzler are closely linked with the National Socialists of Germany, M. Dannenberg asserted, and both are receiving financial support from Stinnes and Castigolini.

They will visit Poland, Roumania, Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Russia and Great Britain, and will be absent from Toronto about three months. They will visit the offices of the Lines in Europe to make arrangements for Canadian immigrants, and will be established with headquarters at Warsaw.

Since Mr. Rotenberg announced his trip, hundreds of enquiries have come in from all over Canada from people who desire to bring relatives from the old country, and have requested that Mr. Louis Rotenberg give these passengers his personal attention, to bring them here without trouble.

To those who have been waiting to bring their relatives to Canada, Messrs. Rotenberg's trip to Europe is very good news, since they have announced that no extra charge will be made for their personal services in Europe.

10,000 MOURN ROSENFELD

New York (J.T.A.). — The high esteem in which the Jews of New York held Morris Rosenfeld, famous Yiddish poet, editor and playwright, was evidenced Sunday when more than 10,000 persons turned out to pay tribute to him at the funeral services held in the auditorium of the Jewish Forward Building, 175 East Broadway.

From 7 o'clock in the morning until 11:15, when the services began, thousands filed past the bier, which lay in state in the centre of the auditorium.

The ceremonies began with chanting of Psalms of the Jewish burial rites by Cantor Herschman, after which there were addresses of eulogy by many of the best known Jewish writers and editors in New York, all members of the Jewish Writers' Club, under whose auspices the services were held.

Among these were H. Rogoff, president of the club, Morris Winshefsky, Jewish poet, K. Marmour, Leo Kobrin, Alexander Harkavy, A. Sachs, Menachem the poet, Reuben Brainin and others.

Following the services the body was escorted through East Broadway to Clinton Street and north to the Williamsburgh Bridge and then to Mount Carmel Cemetery, where interment was in the Jewish Writers' Plot.

At a meeting of the Junior Hadassah held last Tuesday evening, the 19th, it was decided to send money to Palestine for the purpose of purchasing three trees to be planted there in the name of the Ottawa Junior Hadassah, on July 4th, in commemoration of Herzl Day. The sum of $100 will be sent towards Palestine Hospital fund. All activities were adjourned until the fall.

On Wednesday evening, June 20, the 30th Troop, Boy Scouts, had their final meeting of the season in the gymnasium of the York Street School. There was a full turnout of the four patrols, who were all in regulation uniform and presented a very neat and efficient appearance. This Troop is composed entirely of Jewish boys under the competent leadership of Scoutmaster Dr. A. Slone, and have recently been adopted by the Bnai Brith, who have appointed a special committee to supervise and work in conjunction with the scoutmaster.

The program of the evening consisted of a splendid exhibition of first aid, signalling and scouting games. The first aid contest was won by the Eagle Patrol, while the signalling contest was won by the Beaver Patrol and the knot-tying contest was captured by the Bear Patrol.

The following visitors were present: Major-General Steele, Colonel Bartram, Mr. R. A. A. Johnson, Commissioner of the district and Messrs. J. Maris, B. Fox, B. Goldfield, C. Bochner, S. Lepolsky and A. Pinco. At the close of the evening, Dr. Slone was presented with a briar pipe by the young boys as a token of appreciation of his interest and efforts on their behalf. Refreshments were served.

The 39th Troop are planning to leave on July 15, for Fitzroy Harbor, where the district boy scout camp will be located. They will remain there for six weeks and the camp will be in charge of Mr. Maris, late of England, who is now on the staff of St. Alban's College, Brockville.

A reception and lawn party in honor of the bar-mitzvah of Wilfrid, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice H. Levey, was held Sunday evening at their summer residence, "The Chequers," Woodroffe, Ont. Out-of-town guests, Mrs. Riman of Toronto and Mrs. Base of Montreal, were honored with serving tea. Mr. Max B. Margosches made a genial toastmaster and Mrs. Margosches ably responded. Tables were laid amidst a great profusion of flowers, the grounds presenting a delightful appearance with the pretty gowns all blending pleasingly with the specially arranged illuminating effects. Mr. and Mrs. Tradburks, Mr. and Mrs. L. Green, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. Felberg, Mr. and Mrs. Crampton, Mr. and Mrs. Lazarus, Mr. Lipman and a host of young friends of Wilfrid were among those present for the occasion.

ST. CATHARINES

The Sunday School which was inaugurated by the St. Catharines Hebrew Club the early part of the season, has now concluded its term for the summer. This was a branch of new undertaking for the club, and while at first lack of support was evident, enough enthusiasm was finally created amongst members of the community to inculcate the need of teaching Jewish history and thought to the younger people, which has since merited most gratifying results to all concerned. The executive of the Sunday School held a picnic on Sunday, June 17th. This is part of their campaign to retain interest in the pupils, until the term will re-open in September. The staff consists of Dr. A. G. Volpe, principal, J. Stein, asst. principal, and a number of able teachers.

EDMONTON

The Jewish National Fund Committee of our city, headed by Mr. J. Taradash, is doing splendid work. During the last year we have imposed a 10 per cent. tax on all tickets for amusement affairs, organized by the different Jewish organizations in our city. It is worthy of notice that even the radicals did not refuse to pay this tax, and now it is a well-established custom. We think it would be well for other communities to follow this example.

Last week's clearings of the National Fund boxes netted an average of $2.00 per box, but there were boxes that brought in even more, for instance, S. Waldman, $11.75; H. A. Friedman, $8.00; L. Friefeld, $4.39; M. I. Lieberman, $4.30; A. Aaron, $4.30; H. Epstein, $3.55; and M. B. Cohen $3.15.

The other box-holders are: J. Baltzan, D. Binder, D. Cohen, W. Diamond, Friedman & Lieberman, I. Galpet, H. Garfin, J. Hurtig, E. Hanson, H. B. Kline, M. Kotzin, B. Katzenelson, I. Mickelson, H. Margolus, J. Newhouse, A. Newhouse, A. Otrv, Rev. A. Pinsky, F. Ranelson, Max Rabinovitch, E. Rabinovitch, D. Riskin, M. Shubin, S. Shacter, Sol Segerman, H. Satanove, Z. Shuther, A. Wershof, Mr. Weinlos, A. Plotzel and A. Garfin.
